Full Stack Developer by way of a career tending bar, I operate with the rigorous consistency under pressure crucial to that field. Graduate/certificate-holder of the University of Utah's Web Development Bootcamp, I dream of robust, elegant code and subtly elegant boxes on screens. Mongo (or SQL), Express, React, Node. From scratch, I recently wrote a stack (MERN with Apollo/graphQL) that functions as a setlist app for musicians, available to use online. But I'm also developing it in two directions: one, as a barbershop's appointment calendar, the other as an insurance broker's eCommerce platform. I am eager for the process, to see these two deploy. These solo projects are just stepping stones to the generative, exciting collaborations I seek in web development.
